The Form C requests the creation of a new concentration in Early Childhood Studies for the newly revised Master of Arts in Family and Child Studies (see related forms). The early childhood multicultural education program and the family studies program completed a merger into Family and Child Studies at the undergraduate level last academic year. This year forms to revise the existing Master of Arts in Family Studies and PHD in Family Studies are being submitted to complete the creation of the Family and Child Studies program. This Form C is being proposed to create a new 33 credit concentration in Early Childhood Studies for the newly revised Master of Arts in Family and Child Studies. It will be one of three concentrations offered for the Master of Arts degree in Family and Child Studies (please see associated forms).
