Current Requirements:

Community Health Concentration

The mission of the Community Health Concentration is to prepare students for leadership roles in population-based disease prevention and health promotion in public and private settings. The philosophical foundation of the concentration relies on a community capacity building, empowerment approach to promote social justice and equity in health. The concentration is designed for students with prior experience, education, or interest in community-focused public health practice or research that values diversity, self-reflection and critical analysis of evidence-based practice and practice-based public health approaches. The purpose of this concentration is to provide students with the multi-disciplinary knowledge and skills necessary to plan, implement, and evaluate public health programs at multiple levels of the social-ecologic framework.

Requirements:

- Completion of 19 credit hours of M.P.H. core courses and at least 18 credit hours in graduate-level course in public and community health as outlined below.
- Completion of 2 credit hours of a practical field experience (PH 598 - Public Health Practicum) in a community public health setting.
- Completion of at least 3 credit hours demonstrating competencies in integrating community health perspectives through one of the culminating experience options (Professional Paper, Integrative Experience, Thesis, or Master's Oral Examination).
- The chair of the culminating experience committee must be a core faculty member of the concentration.

Community Health (CH) Concentration in Public Health

Impact

The proposed change is to add PH 556 as a formal course elective, tailoring the CH Concentration and adding additional flexibility for the students.

The changes would not require any additional resources from the UNM Libraries or IT since students completing the concentration are already enrolled in our graduate program.

There will be no changes in faculty workload since the MPH faculty are currently teaching the courses.
