4. FACULTY SENATE PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The Faculty Senate President reported on the following:

- The update of UNM West will be given by Provost Dasenbrock at another Faculty Senate meeting. Other time-sensitive agenda items required priority.
- Faculty Senate elections have begun. Your school or college dean has been contacted to begin the election process. If your term is expiring and you wish to serve again, please contact your dean.
- The faculty senate presidents of UNM, New Mexico State University (NMSU), New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology (NM tech), Western New Mexico University (WNMU), Eastern New Mexico University (ENMU), and New Mexico Highlands University met with Secretary of Higher Education Beverly McClure. There are many issues that are common among New Mexico's higher education state institutions. The presidents met with Secretary McClure to discuss life of faculty and to report on what is happening at their respective schools. Higher Education Legislative Initiatives are: a pay increase for faculty, facilities planning, and to eliminate the tuition credit.
- President Shipman serves on the UNM Anti-Hate Task Force. The task force is working on policies and procedures for reporting and handling hate crimes. The focus is also on education and prevention.
- The Operations Committee met with the Committee on Governance (CoG) and then with Board of Regents President Jamie Koch to discuss the university presidential search. The names will be announced on Wednesday, January 24, 2007. The Faculty Senate Operations Committee has been charged by Board of Regents (BOR) President Koch to coordinate and conduct the faculty portion of the presidential candidate interviews. There will be two interviews per candidate. One will be held on main campus and the other will be held on north campus.
- The Operations Committee is attempting to have the interviews web cast and also recorded for review by the faculty that cannot attend or listen online. President Shipman encourages as much faculty participation as possible. It has been suggested that each candidate should answer specific set questions and provide their vision for UNM. In addition, questions from individual faculty will be entertained.
- Please send questions for the candidates from you and from your constituents, peers, and colleagues to vshipman@unm.edu no later than Monday, January 29, 2007, at 4:00 p.m. The Operations Committee will review the questions and determine the standard questions that will be asked of all the candidates. Those questions will be forwarded to BOR President Koch. Faculty are encouraged to attend the interviews to ask individual and more specialized questions.

5. COMMITTEE RESTRUCTURING UPDATE

President-Elect Jackie Hood gave an update on the progress from the Faculty Senate committee restructuring retreat that was held on December 6, 2006. President-Elect Hood thanked those that participated. Approximately 70 people participated of the more than 300 that were invited. Faculty, staff, students, and administrators that have served on Faculty Senate committees over the last three years were invited. The goal of the retreat was to begin work on a structure that will have an impact on faculty issues and to get more faculty involvement.

Many of the committees do not meet, many do not submit minutes and agendas, and some have been doing work that could be turned over to administrative units. Two proposed committees are a Policy Committee and a Community Engagement Committee. Any changes in the committee structure would require changes to the Faculty Handbook. President-Elect Hood will check the progress of the oversight committees. Following is the summary of the flip-charts from the retreat that was distributed to the senators:

Faculty Senate Retreat on Committee Structure
December 6, 2006

The Faculty Senate called a retreat on December 6, 2006 to begin discussing a Faculty Senate committee structure that would more effectively accomplish the goals and serve the needs of the Faculty Senate. Invitees included all Faculty Senate committee members over the past three years, including faculty, staff and students that served, along with the current membership of the Faculty Senate. Below is the compilation of the flip charts that emerged from the retreat.

A. Review of Current Faculty Governance Structure

The Faculty Senate acts for the entire faculty in coordinating faculty governance at the University of New Mexico. The Senate exercises the faculty's responsibilities for education, care of students, their contributions to the academic excellence of the University, and to an environment in which all members of the campus community are free to learn and communicate. The policies and procedures by which this is governed, the Faculty Constitution and Faculty Senate Bylaws, as well as personnel policies regulating sabbatical leaves, promotion, and tenure, are found in the UNM Faculty Handbook.

5. Faculty Senate Policy Committee Charge

Suggestion: We recommend keeping the Governance committee as it stands.

Suggestion: Establish a Policy committee as a Faculty Senate Committee

In the interest of shared governance any and all policies that impact faculty of UNM must be reviewed by the Policy Committee, with the exception of those under the purview of other faculty standing committees. The Policy Committee membership must include 2 members from Governance, 1 from AF&T, 4 from Faculty Senate (none of whom are from the same department).

The charge to this committee is as follows:

- Review of the Regents' Handbook, Faculty Handbook, Constitution, Red book, and the Pathfinder
- Consult and collaborate with administrators with respect to policies in documents other than in the Faculty Handbook.
- Communication of policies across the campuses after Faculty Senate approval, full faculty approval, or as per policy history.
- Review and approve policies developed by other standing committees.

G. Final Oversight Committee Leaders

Individuals were asked to volunteer to lead the discussion efforts for each oversight committee. Below are the individuals who volunteered to pull together interested parties to discuss the charge, structure, and operations of these committees. An agreement was reached that a progress report from each area was due on February 1.

8. GRADUATION TASK FORCE REPORT

Provost Reed Dasenbrock introduced the Graduation Task Force Report. UNM's third semester retention rate is up ten percent while its peers are trending downward. The Freshman Academic Choices program has had a dramatic impact on retention. However, UNM's graduation rate is appalling when compared to its peers. Advising is required for freshman and declared majors, but not for the students in between. There has been $300,000 invested in advisement and the results will take some time to be seen.

The Graduation Task Force steering committee was comprised of: Peter White, Vice Provost and Dean of University College, Co-Chair; Wynn Goering, Associate Provost for Academic Affairs, Co-Chair; Terry Babbitt, Associate Vice President of Enrollment Management; Mark Chisholm, Director of Institutional Research; Jennifer Gomez-Chavez, Director, Title V Program; Nancy Lopez, Assistant Professor of Sociology; and Mark Ondrias, Arts and Sciences Associate Dean for Student Affairs and Professor of Chemistry. The members were each in charge of a subcommittee. The subcommittees looked at the critical factors effecting graduation rates at UNM. Each subcommittee crafted recommendations, not all of which were used in the final report.

Dean Peter White (University College) distributed the 19 page summary of the larger report. Associate Provost Wynn Goering reviewed the handout with the senate. Both the summary and the full report are available at:

9. THINK NM RESOLUTION

Fred Nathan and Grant Taylor from THINK New Mexico presented the following resolution for the Faculty Senate to consider. The THINK NM website is www.thinknewmexico.org. After brief discussion, the resolution passed by a unanimous vote. There was one abstention.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Faculty Senate exercises the faculty's responsibilities for education, care of students, their contributions to the academic excellence of the University, and to an environment in which all members of the campus community are free to learn and communicate, and

WHEREAS, the New Mexico Legislature created the lottery, in part, to fund a full-tuition scholarship to every deserving high school graduate at any public university or community college in New Mexico, and

WHEREAS, the New Mexico Higher Education Department projects the scholarship fund will face an $18 million deficit in 2011, and

WHEREAS, approximately 20 cents of every dollar bet on the lottery goes to pay operating and administrative costs, the fifth highest of 43 states, according to La Fleur's 2006 World Lottery Almanac, and

WHEREAS, currently only about 24 cents of every dollar bet on the lottery actually go to scholarships, while eleven states have set statutory minimum percentages for beneficiaries between 30 and 35 percent (California, Delaware, Georgia, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, New Jersey, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Tennessee), and

WHEREAS, even small states (New Hampshire, North Dakota, West Virginia and Washington D.C.) returned 30 percent or more of their lottery revenues to their beneficiaries last year, and

WHEREAS, the New Mexico Lottery pays online vendor GTech 8.52 percent of online sales, while comparable states pay between 2.16 percent and 5.10 percent, and

WHEREAS, lottery retailers receive a base commission of 6 percent of every dollar of ticket sales from the New Mexico Lottery, while most states pay their retailers 5 percent, and

WHEREAS, Think New Mexico proposes the “30-percent solution”, by which 30 percent of lottery revenues will be statutorily dedicated to the Lottery Success Scholarship fund, and

WHEREAS, increasing the percentage for scholarships from 24 percent to 30 percent will produce approximately $9 million per year, or enough for 2,500 scholarships,

WHEREAS, Think New Mexico proposes to add language to the current law requiring that at least one of the seven Lottery Board positions be reserved for representative(s) of the higher education community, and

NOW THEREFORE, the Faculty Senate of UNM does hereby endorse legislation that appropriates at least 30 percent of lottery revenues to Lottery Success Scholarships and verbiage that requires at least one Lottery Board member be from the higher education community, as recommended by Think New Mexico.
