☐ Does this change affect other departmental program/branch campuses? If yes, indicate below.

Reason(s) for Request (enter text below or upload a doc/pdf file)

The College of Population Health is revising the Master of Public Health core curriculum to meet the new accreditation guidelines and and foundational core competencies of the Council on Education for Public Health, our accrediting body. This new core curriculum combines our current epidemiology and biostatistics core courses into two integrated courses, Public Health Epidemiology and Biostatistics I and Public Health Epidemiology and Biostatistics II. It also combines our principles of PH and writing courses and Program Planning and Theory courses together. This integrated approach will allow students to better understand and master the analytical foundations of public health science. These course integrations will also ensure that we meet our accreditation standards.
