Justification

Program Justification

APMS 503 has been added to the music curriculum as a for credit class since the GCERT music was created. Extra credits of APMS 591, beyond the two required for the recital/capstone project, can also count toward fulfilling the Studio Instruction requirement. We want to ensure that GCERT music students have maximum flexibility in scheduling applied music courses.

Program Description

The graduate certificate (GCERT) in Music Performance is a specialized, one-year post-baccalaureate program designed for musicians seeking careers in professional performance. The graduate certificate curriculum is performance-based and is designed to provide students with intensive and focused additional instruction beyond the bachelor's or master's degree. The GCERT in Music Performance is a stand-alone program. Enrollment in conjunction with the Master of Music (M.Mu.) is not allowed, however, all of the courses taken to complete the GCERT can count for credit toward a future M.Mu. program. No more than 50% of the courses taken for the GCERT can come from a completed M.Mu. program at UNM.
